

TIMBERLIN CREEK

Elementary School

01.31.2018

Community Relations visited Timberlin Creek Elementary School for the first time this year. Mrs. Colbert, the lead teacher for the 2nd Grade Extended Day class, approached First Florida at the end of last year to discuss having us come in to teach some financial literacy lessons to the students after school. We jumped at the opportunity!

The first lesson reviewed the fundamentals of money. We began by reading a book titled Money Madness by David A. Adler. This book discussed the origins of money and the many different forms that it takes today.

Afterwards, the kids completed a 'Fill My Wallet' craft where they were able to write and design their own money, including dollar bills, checks, debit cards, and credit cards. The students did a phenomenal job and showed a lot of creativity!

While we were on-site, the students asked plenty of questions that we worked to answer in a way that they could understand. By the time we left, the kids even knew the difference between a debit card and a credit card!

To complete our visit, we provided each child with a take-home page to share with their parents that explained that First Florida visited them at school and the activities that we facilitated that day. We look forward to scheduling our next visit in February.
